I have tried a bunch of the settings that the other people have suggested, but none of them have worked so far. Does anybody know a good fix for this? A: I found the problem! It was caused by the option settings in the movie. I had set it to "after download open file". So when it was trying to open the file it was looking in the wrong place which caused the problem. Q: Naming convention for ng-component with application scope variables I have a component which is using an application scope variable as a template variable. I don't see a way to do this in the ng-component decorator, but instead i get the error "The name 'Variable' does not exist in the current scope." Any suggestions on how I can get around this? Is there a way to reference the scope attribute of the outer component in the ng-component, or do i have to find a different way to retrieve the variable? A: No, if you have a controller associated with your directive/component then you are required to use the ControllerAs property to access those scoped variables. Q: How to go from x to h to Y and not use an intermediate variable The question is this, I have this code:

import random
a = [random.randint(1,6) for c in range(5)]
b = [random.randint(1,6) for c in range(3)] c = [random.randint(1,6) for d in range(5)] d = [random.randint(1,6) for e in range(3)]
e = [random.randint(1,6) for f in range(5)]
f = [random.randint(1,6) for g in range(3)] g = [random.randint(1,6) for h in range(5)] print(a[0], b[0], c[0], d[0], e[0], f[0], g[0], h[0])

 And is like this but with 2 extra empty lists:

import random
a = [random.randint(1,6) for c in range(5)]
b = [random.randint(1,6) for c in range(3)]
c = [random

To better understand the health implications of travel to warm climates, we analyzed the current scientific literature on the health risks associated with visiting warm, humid tropical locations. Eight hundred and seventy-two published studies in peer-reviewed journals from 1900 to 2003 were examined for inclusion, of which 17 (or 2.1%) were on travel to tropical climates. Data were abstracted from these studies to determine important health-related features of travel to tropical climates such as immune and vector-borne disease exposure. More than half of the studies focused on two diseases associated with visiting warm, humid tropical climates: malaria and dengue. Health risks associated with travel to tropical climates are substantial, but the health risks associated with travel to other warm, humid climates, such as Hawaii or Florida, are largely unknown. Travelers to warm, humid climates should consider routine prophylaxis and vaccination against malaria and dengue, and good personal hygiene may help reduce risk of vector-borne infections.Parnas (Lithuania) (AFP) - The United States, Russia, China and the European Union are discussing ways to prevent a war in Eastern Europe amid rising tensions in Crimea, said foreign ministers of the four powers and Lithuania, which also borders Ukraine. Russia's annexation of the Crimean peninsula sparked an international crisis that threatens to spill into countries such as Ukraine, Georgia and Moldova that have long-running territorial disputes with Moscow. "The situation on the ground is very tense. The conflict is moving towards a conflict escalation," Lithuanian Foreign Minister Linas Linkevicius told reporters after meeting his counterparts from the United States, Russia, China and the European Union in Parnas, Lithuania. "We had an exchange of views on how to prevent further escalation of the situation. The situation on the ground
