You are the last one alive, and there is no specific time limit. The goal is to beat the game as quickly as possible. You will die, and that's ok because your luck will eventually run out. The second one is the Vivid Surfing campaign. This is where the real game starts. There are 5 levels in total, each with goals. You have 1 hour to unlock the goals. You must use whatever tools available to you (i.e. sticks, ladders, ramps, etc) to complete the goals. You can only have 4 objectives at a time, and there are constraints on available movement, such as getting a higher stick position within a circle. If you complete the goals, you unlock the next level in the campaign, and also unlock the 'Achievement', which will bring it closer to a full release.
