I have a form with multiple fields to upload. When I upload a file it works fine but when it goes to display in the form, it does it like this: 234021,234022,234023,234024 Now, what I want is that it would create like this: id_1,id_2,id_3,id_4 Can you help me about how to do this? A: If by "_1" you mean the exact number for the field, it's not possible. To have this field serialized as e.g. id_1, id_2, id_3, id_4, you should use a hook. First, you should create a custom module that will extend Webform Field List. Its name should be [my-module]-field-list. The "Field List" will be called "Field List - [my-module]

So it is with a sigh of relief that I note that there is a leaked image of Windows 10 Mobile codenamed "Threshold" for Nokia Lumia devices, (Nokia still seems to be talking about Mango, still labeling it as Windows 8 "desktop-interface-rooted" software, and the codename, "Threshold", has been revised twice, once as "Lumia", the other as "Lumia 925". Or, so they claim.) And, in my mind, Microsoft made a major strategic mistake in shipping Windows 10 for mobile devices. The strategy was to lock the phone platform of Windows on mobile devices in a way that at a minimum brought all the bloatware of Windows 10 onto the user's device. The positive spin for Microsoft is that they have cleared the way for a Windows 10 Mobile interface that is clean, fast and Spartan. But the major "mistake", I believe, was to design the interface for Windows 10 Mobile in the same manner as the interface for Windows 10 desktop and IoT devices. Windows 10 is not Microsoft's smartphone platform; rather it is Microsoft's embedded computing platform, and it should be designed for devices that are not "desktop" in nature. From what little I have seen of Windows 10 Mobile, it is not a Windows 10 device. As a Windows 10 device, Windows 10 Mobile is "lumpy", with 1GB of RAM dedicated to Microsoft services, several "feature" start bars, and the infamous Start screen with its squirrely Windows 10 "applications" directory, and everything else baked-in. Windows 10 is supposed to be a clean, Spartan interface for the common "person on the go". And, because of the "dual" nature of Windows 10, it should be perfect on phones, tablets, or whatever other form factors it is to be found on. In the case of Windows 10 Mobile, because it uses the same "desktop" interface, and the same "desktop" applications, it has been designed for tablet form factors. Everything is bigger, and its usability is diminished. This is more than a minor gripe because one of the major features of Windows 10 was to move all the Windows applications into the "apps" directory. But because the interface is so "desktop" in nature, the Windows 10 mobile apps are the size of those found on the Windows 10 desktop. And, because of this, the interface suffers from a lack 6d1f23a050
