I am unfamiliar with PDF files and I am wondering is there a way that I can get the guot;POETRY" and guot;PLAYS" subheadings which appear on the image?Q: How do I tell which one is the one that is different? We have 2 identical tables, say Table1 and Table2. and we have added a new column on Table2 called 'ColA', which has to be the same as on Table1. However, there is a user script that iterates through all rows, renaming one of the columns on the fly. We need this script to update only on Table2, but not Table1. How would I tell which table is Table1? Example of User Script: Table1: ID Name ColA ColB --------- 1 John a b 2 Mike a b Table2: ID Name ColA ColB --- ---------- 1 John b a 2 Mike b a Script: Replace "@colA with 'newcol' ...and then rename 'ColB' to 'ColA' A: You will need to get the source table and table structure names, and pass them as parameters in the script. You will first need to run this in SQL Developer: SELECT TABLE NAME, COLUMN NAME, EXTENTIONS FROM ALL TAB COLUMNS WHERE TABLE NAME IN ('TABLE1', 'TABLE2'); This will show you the table name and column name of the column you are interested in.
