Mario Diaz-Balart, R-Fla., said Friday that he doesn't believe President Trump's campaign knew of Russia's meddling in the 2016 election. In an interview with Circa, Diaz-Balart also said the release of special counsel Robert Mueller's report has "substantially vindicated" the Trump administration. "I think that certainly there is some troubling stuff," he said. "I think it's certainly troubling that members of his campaign were colluding and coordinating with the Russians. If there's wrongdoing, I think it's significant. But I don't think it rises to a level that Mr. Mueller concludes that they should be charged." Mueller's report has led to criminal charges against 34 people, including four former Trump associates. Diaz-Balart told Circa he doesn't believe Trump's 2016 presidential campaign knew of Russia 6d1f23a050
