Yes, he's found a way to hack into your computer without having permission.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a process for treating a dielectric fluid used as a working fluid for a dielectric fluid, and more particularly, to a process for treating a dielectric fluid with sulfur dioxide gas in order to prevent deterioration of dielectric properties. 2. Description of the Prior Art More and more important in the design and development of recent computer apparatus is a technique for high-speed processing. Such a technique includes a technique for increasing the effective transmission capacity of a signal line, and a technique for increasing a write speed of a memory. In addition, a technique for high-speed, high-density data transfer or a technique for high-speed, high-resolution display has progressed in various fields such as computer graphics and medical science. Therefore, a dielectric fluid is used for these high-speed, high-density data transfer or high-speed, high-resolution display techniques, and it is desired to continue to use the dielectric fluid while reducing the deterioration of dielectric properties.
